DISTRICT BYLAWS:

ARTICLE IV: SECTION 4.02

Each congregation of the District (a multiple congregation parish being considered a unit) shall be represented by one ordained minister called by the congregation and one elected lay delegate. An interim ordained minister whose name is listed on the Synod's official roster of Ordained Ministers may serve as a voting ordained minister, provided that he has been officially called by the congregation and installed. A multiple-parish congregation shall elect one lay delegate who shall represent the congregations of the parish. The vote at any Convention shall be restricted to the designated voting ordained ministers and the duly elected lay delegates of the congregation.
